Refresh, Renew, Revitalize your staff through Professional Development

Career Development Practitioner Ethics Training

Champion your agency in the advancement of ethical guidelines by attending the Employment Counselling Ethics Training. The training will be very helpful in providing direction and a shared ethical vocabulary for counsellors, job developers, and other career development practitioners when deciding how to deal with ethical dilemmas and issues.

The Ethics training is designed to help career development practitioners and management understand more fully and more effectively deal with the competing interests in any ethical issue or dilemmas. The training will help establish open communications amongst staff, clients, and management by providing transparency through accepted guidelines.

Areas of focus will include:

- Primary Responsibility
- Confidentiality
- Informed Consent
- Referrals
- Use of Tests
- Computer and Technology Use
- Professional Standards

This training meets the Ethics course requirements for certification by the Career Development Practitioners' Certification Board of Ontario.

$250. Non-member / Member

Includes: 3 hours of pre-training preparation, 1 full day of classroom training, two assessments, manual, morning and afternoon refreshments
